Providing Funerals of Distinction Since 1986

Every person's life is unique, and we believe their funeral should reflect that individuality. At G. Roberts Independent Family Funeral Director, we are committed to helping families create a fitting and personal tribute to their loved one.

With decades of experience, we have built a strong reputation for providing compassionate and professional funeral services in Scarborough and the surrounding areas. Our premises in the heart of Scarborough's town centre have served the community for many years.

Our original building on Sherwood Street was purpose-built as a funeral home in 1906 and continues to form an important part of our facilities today. In November 2022, we expanded with the opening of Sherwood House at 119 Victoria Road, which now serves as our main reception and arranging offices. Our original premises at 6-8 Sherwood Street are dedicated to our peaceful chapels of rest and mortuary facilities, allowing all care to take place on site by our trained staff.

G. Roberts remains a proud family-run business, founded by my father Graham Roberts and his sister Christine. I joined the business in 2013, followed by my stepdaughter Amelia in 2023 and my mother Amanda in 2024. Together with our dedicated team, we continue to provide the same caring and personal service that has guided our family business for decades.

Sadly, in November 2024 we lost both Graham and Christine within twenty-seven days of one another. While their passing was a great loss to our family, we remain committed to continuing the business with the same values and dedication they established.

Our service has been recognised through several awards, including Golden Charter Funeral Planner of the Year regional runner-up, SME Funeral Director of the Year winners in 2023 and 2024, and the Corporate LiveWire Innovation & Excellence Award.

We hope this brochure is helpful in guiding you through the arrangements. Please remember that most details can be changed after the initial meeting if required. If you have any questions or would like further advice, our team will always be here to help.

Testimonials

- “ George and his staff were so kind to me and Alex at this difficult time. George guided us through each step with respect and kindness. From the first when he took Brian to the chapel of rest, to helping us organise the funeral and he recommended Anna, our celebrant. The service was perfect and the flowers were beautiful. The venue at the North Cliff golf club for the wake was lovely and everyone enjoyed the food and drink. We were able to celebrate Brian's life with our guests and give him the send off he deserved. Thank you to everyone at George Roberts for making this possible. ”
- “ George and his staff provided an excellent service for mum’s funeral. They are very efficient and caring. I would recommend them to my family and friends. ”
- “ Highly recommended. Could not recommend G Roberts Funerals enough. From the first phone call, George and his team showed nothing but professionalism, kindness, sympathy and understanding. Nothing was too much for them. Kept us up to date with the arrangements and dad's funeral was absolutely perfect. Thankyou so much to George and his team. ”
- “ Excellent service. Despite living in Devon and the funeral in Scarborough, George and team took care of everything via phone and email to allow us time to travel etc. Lovely service on the day and made it possible to scatter the ashes the following day, so our return trip to Devon was not delayed. Thanks to all involved. ”
- “ From my initial call on Christmas Day when my father passed to his funeral 3 weeks later Roberts services were impeccable. Nothing too much trouble and everything organised with such professionalism. My father had the most amazing send off. Robert’s Funeral Directors were amazing. ”
- “ I felt supported every step of the way and could ask any question as nothing was too much trouble. I cannot thank George and the team enough. ”
- “ We cannot fault the professional service we received from G Roberts Funeral Directors. Care and compassion were shown at all times and we would strongly recommend this company. A special shout out to Amelia who made a difficult time more bearable, her kindness and help were very much appreciated. ”
- “ Excellent service from the whole team. Customer service was second to none throughout the whole process. Always calm, compassionate and caring, nothing was too much trouble. Thank you. ”

First Steps

The first step should always be to contact your local funeral director, who will offer guidance, support and practical advice at what can be a very difficult time. Our telephones are answered by our own experienced local funeral staff, available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

You do not need to wait until the death has been registered before contacting us. In fact, we recommend speaking to a member of our professional team as soon as possible so that we can begin to guide you through the process.

Although a funeral date may not yet be confirmed, many important decisions can still be discussed and arrangements can begin. Talking through the available options can often help families feel more prepared and supported during this time.

Registration of Death

Your funeral director cannot register the death on your behalf. This must be completed by the legally responsible person, such as a relative, executor, or the person arranging the funeral.

Once the doctor has issued the Medical Certificate of Cause of Death (MCCD) and it has been reviewed by the Medical Examiner, the certificate will be sent electronically to the Register

Office covering the area where the death occurred.

The Register Office will then contact the next of kin or informant to arrange an appointment to complete the registration.

Deaths should normally be registered within five days of the paperwork being received by the Register Office, unless the Coroner is involved.

When registering the death, you will need to provide the following information about the deceased:

- Date and place of death.
- Full name and any previous names (for example, a maiden name).
- Date and place of birth.
- Last address.
- Occupation.
- Details of a surviving or deceased spouse or civil partner, including their full name, date of birth and occupation.
- Information regarding any state pension or other benefits.

The Registrar will confirm the details with you before asking you to sign the register. You will also be able to use the “Tell Us Once” service, which allows you to notify several government departments at the same time, including council tax, the DVLA, pensions and benefits.

Once registration is complete, the Registrar will issue:

- A Certificate for Burial or Cremation (commonly known as the green form).
- A BD8 form for pension or benefit purposes (only if you are not using the “Tell Us Once” service).
- Certified copies of the death certificate (£12.50 each).

Financial Advice

Dealing with money matters is often the last thing you want to be doing when you have suffered a bereavement. Unfortunately, it is something that has to be addressed and some financial matters are more pressing than others. Time delays can lead to unnecessary complication and cost.

What should I do first?

The first thing is to register the death and take care of the funeral arrangements.

The cost of the funeral can normally be released directly from one of the deceased person's accounts upon production of the invoice and death certificate, if there are sufficient funds. If there are insufficient funds, you may be eligible to apply for help from the State - please ask and you will be advised of the eligibility criteria.

Once you have attended to the above, it is advisable to write a list with the following information:-

1. Accounts/Shares/ISA's etc.
2. Life Insurance.
3. Private Pensions/Annuities.
4. DWP/State Pension.
5. Utility Companies.
6. Council Tax.
7. Buildings Insurance.

All these people may have to be contacted and if you write a list at the start then this will help organise what needs to be done.

The person that has the responsibility of dealing with the administration of the estate is either:

1. The executor if there is a Will.
2. The next of kin under the rules of Intestacy if there is no Will.

It will be up to them to decide whether they wish to deal with matters personally or whether to get assistance from a Solicitor with the administration of the estate.

The circumstances will dictate, and it is often not required on the first death in a couple whose assets are held jointly.

Some Solicitors offer a free initial consultation to assess whether you require their services, you may wish to take advantage of this. If not and you require assistance later after coming up against something you are finding it difficult to deal with - go and get their help rather than worrying.

Where to find help?

All our funeral directors have a relationship with a local firm of Solicitors who will be able to assist you and be familiar with everything required.

Funeral Costs

Every funeral arranged by G. Roberts Independent Family Funeral Directors will have a written estimate prepared following the meeting to discuss the funeral arrangements. A client form is signed by the person making the arrangements and ultimately responsible for payment of the invoice. As part of this process, a discussion will take place regarding the funding of the funeral.

We ask for payment of the funeral director's professional service fees for Essential Farewell and Traditional Funeral Services within two working days after the arrangements are made. This will be followed by an invoice for the remaining balance of the total costs. For Unattended Funeral Services, the full invoice amount is due within seven working days of the arrangements being made, after which a date and time will be arranged with the crematorium or other venue.

Where the funeral is substantially funded by a pre-paid funeral plan, an invoice for any additional items not covered by the plan provider will also be sent at this time.

Invoices to Third Parties

When requested we will send an invoice directly to a third party such as another family member, bank, building society, solicitor or insurance company for payment, and prepare a duplicate copy for information purposes and send this to our client. The client instructing G. Roberts Independent Family Funeral Directors and signing the contract will remain ultimately responsible for payment and interest is payable if a long delay occurs before payment is received in line with our terms and conditions which can be found at www.g-roberts.co.uk.

Other Help Available

Some clients will be eligible for help with funeral costs from the DWP. Our funeral directors will be able to advise clients on their eligibility for such claims based on their receipt of a means tested benefit and the financial situation of the deceased person and their immediate family. The maximum DWP grant does not cover the full cost of a funeral.

We have expert staff available to help with DWP claims and to assist in obtaining any further help available from Government or Charities.

Music

At most local crematoria a system is available to download music from the internet to use during the service.

We have contact with several soloists, bands, choirs and musicians who can be engaged when required.

Personal Address systems, Video Screens & Recording of Services

Through a relationship with a local firm we are able to offer PA systems to allow a service to be broadcast to a large congregation, video links to extend the service to another venue, and recording equipment to allow a video or audio recording of a service to be made and kept by the family.

Webcasting

Sending live video through the internet allows bereaved relatives and friends to share a loved one's funeral when they are unable to attend in person. We have found that the service is particularly valued by those who live abroad and also those who would like to be present at a funeral but are too unwell to travel.

Catering

If you require catering after the funeral you can either make your own arrangements or contact us to make a booking at a hotel or provide a caterer.

Listing Mourners £80.00

On all funerals we will now offer to send an usher to the place of service beforehand. This practice allows for someone from our firm to welcome all of the mourners, show them to their seats in advance where possible and hand out printed orders of service if these have been provided. The usher will then offer each mourner a card on which to complete their own name, along with that of anyone whom they are representing but is not able to attend. At the end of the service the usher will collect in all of the cards or there is the option of submitting the details online. We produce a list of all the mourners names alphabetically, together with the names of people who could not attend but were represented. Multiple copies can be produced if required.
